

Final GCSE Examination Preparation (Summer 2026)

Please see below for details about the final GCSE History examinations.

Please do not forget that even if you plan to not continue your historical studies after secondary school, GCSE History is a key facilitating subject looked on favourably by all providers due to the transferable skills you learn. Due to the way that our education system works, further and higher education providers are also aware that you made an active choice to pick GCSE History at the end of Year 9, so will expect good grades as an indicator of your work ethic.
